REPORT TITLE

CUSTOMER SEGMENTATION ANALYSIS

Executive summary

This report performs a deep-dive segmentation analysis of the US Retail dataset (2015-2018). Three segments are analyzed : Consumer, Corporate and Home Office — across revenue, growth, product categories and regions. The objective is to identify which segments drive the most value and where growth opportunities exist.

TOTAL SALES : 2.26M TOTAL CUSTOMERS : 793 TOTAL ORDERS : 4922

Key Things

- Consumer is the revenue backbone at 50.8% share ($1.15M) but has the lowest AOV at $453.
- Corporate generates the highest revenue per customer at $2,917 — best B2B efficiency.
- Home office is the growth engine — up 51.2% in 2018, with the highest AOV at $475.
- All segments dipped in 2016 then rebounded strongly from 2017 onwards.
- West leads revenue for every single segment — South is the biggest untapped opportunity.
- Technology is the #1 category across ALL three segments without exception.

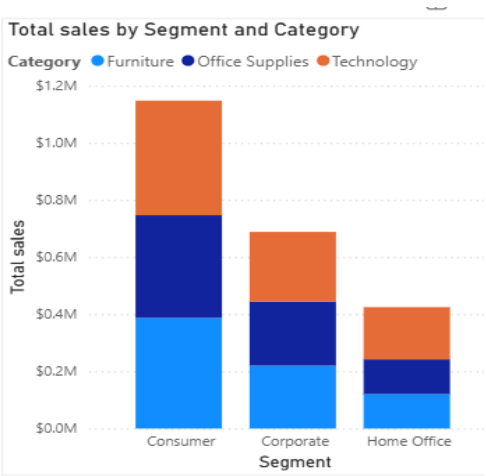
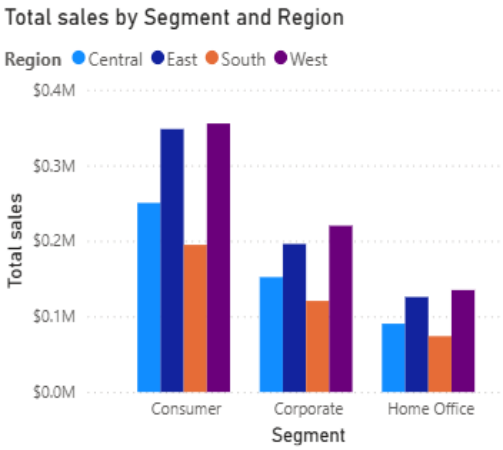
- 2016 hit Corporate (-6.4%) and Home Office (-16.5%) hardest while Consumer stayed flat (+0.9%).
- Corporate 2017 rebound of +71.3% was the sharpest single-year recovery across all segments.
- Home Office 2018 growth of +51.2% is the biggest single-year growth figure in the entire dataset.

Segment	Furniture	Office Supplies	Technology
Consumer	$388K	$359K	$401K
Corporate	$220K	$224K	$244K
Home Office	$121K	$122K	$182K





* Technology dominates as the #1 category for every segment — no exceptions.

* Home office spends 42.9% on technology vs ~35% for other segments.

SEGMENT * REGION BREAKDOWN

Segment	Central	East	South	West
Consumer	$250K	$348K	$195K	$355K
Corporate	$152K	$196K	$121K	$220K
Home Office	$90K	$126K	$74K	$135K

* West leads all three segments — it is the dominant region across every cut of the data.

* South consistently underperforms — $389K total vs West $710K, a $321K revenue gap.

STRATEGIC RECOMMENDATIONS

CONSUMER SEGMENT : Largest at 50.8% revenue share but lowest AOV($4530).Focus on upselling Technology bundles and loyalty programs. South region Consumer campaigns are a key growth lever with significant untapped potential.

CORPORATE SEGMENT : Highest revenue per customer ($2,197). Invest in B2B retention — annual contracts and volume discounts on Technology. The 2016 dip (-6.4%) shows vulnerability; dedicated account management will stabilise future growth.

HOME OFFICE SEGMENT : Fastest growing (+51.2% in 2018) with the highest AOV ($475).Scale acquisition campaigns immediately. South Region Home Office at just $74K is critically undeserved — the single biggest quick-win opportunity.

SOUTH REGION (All Segments) : Underperforms across every segment. The $321K gap vs West represents the largest single opportunity in the dataset. Targeted regional campaigns across all three segments can close this gap meaningfully.

CONCLUSION

The segmentation analysis surfaces three customers groups with distinct growth trajectories. Consumer is the revenue backbone, Corporate is the efficiency leader, and Home Office is the clear growth engine posting 51.2% growth in 2018 with the highest AOV.

The south region gap ($321K vs West) is the most significant untapped opportunity . Combined with Technology's dominance across all segments, the strategic path is clear : accelerate Home Office acquisition, deepen Corporate retention and expand South region presence.
